site and they voted on the design that they liked the best.

As soon as they had a design to follow, the Web Team worked every other day from September of 2007 to February of this year creating the new site. The students worked using brand new software, including Photoshop CS3 and the new version of Flash and Dreamweaver. "Using the new software was definitely one of my favorite parts of designing the new website. I also really enjoy the feeling you get when people can use something you made and it makes me proud that I'm part of something other students can benefit from," said Nicole.

It is apparent that the Web Team has brought a new light to the THS website. You would be surprised at how useful this website can be; alerts along with daily announcements are always on the site, so check it out! Thanks to the Web Team for all of their hard work on the awesome new THS website!

On March 1st, 2008 the Trumbull High School Web Team uploaded a newly designed version of the Trumbull High School website. The brand-new look to the THS website catches the eye of every visitor. The Eagles Eye was able to talk with one of the members of the THS Web Team, senior, Nicole Mihalko, about the production of the site.

"It all began last year when we (the Web Team) wanted to change the design and perhaps even the entire website because it had been the same for years," said Nicole. The Web Team began to work together to brainstorm ideas for the new site. After the summer the students had fresh ideas for the
